The screenshot shows the Google Earth website homepage. At the top left is the "Google earth" logo, and at the top right is a language dropdown menu set to "English (US)". Below the logo is a navigation bar with links for "Home", "Explore", "Download", "Learn", "Connect", and "Help". The main content area features a large image of a city skyline. To the right of this image is a blue box with the text "Get the world's geographic information at your fingertips." and a prominent "Download Google Earth 5" button. Below this button are three bullet points: "Fly to any place around the world.", "See 3D buildings, imagery, and terrain.", and "Find cities, places, and local businesses." Below these points is a section for "Google Earth Pro" with the text "Upgrade to the ultimate mapping application for business users." and a "Learn more" link. Below the main image is a section titled "Become a World Traveler" with the text "Travel to cities across the globe, dive into the depths of the ocean, explore remote islands, and even fly to faraway galaxies." and a "Learn more" link. Below this are three columns: "Products Overview" with links for Desktop, Earth in Google Maps, and Mobile; "Showcase" with links for 3D Buildings, Ocean, Moon, and Sky; and "Learn" with a link for "Searching for Places". At the bottom, there are two boxes: "Looking for specific information?" with links for Non-Profits, Educators, Developers, Businesses, Media, and Data Providers; and "Want to keep up-to-date?" with links for the Sightseer Newsletter, the Google Lat Long Blog, and Twitter.
